PROTECT IDAHO'S FORESTS

Invasive insects and diseases travel on firewood and threaten Idaho's forests. When traveling, you can help protect trees—and the places you love—by buying firewood locally.

- Many invasive insects and diseases are only found in particular states or regions.
- Moving firewood long distances can spread tree killing organisms to new areas—multiplying their impact and killing millions more trees.

How you can help:

- Build campfires with locally bought firewood
- Never transport firewood from home
- Burn all firewood completely at each destination
- Tell fellow RV enthusiasts to use local firewood

Support the health of Idaho's forests by buying and burning local firewood.

One of the landmarks of the Payetter River Scenic Byway, the Rainbow Bridge is listed on the National Register of Historic Places for its engineering design. Built in 1933, the open-spandrel concrete arches span 410 feet across the river. It remains today as a major achievement reflecting leading-edge bridge engineering at the time and shows a conscious effort to maintain the picturesque natural setting.
